The suit is filed against the Ogden Packing and Provision company, Mr. Piugree and several others designated as "the committee of creditors" who have had control and supervision of the business of the packing company. . Mr. Ellison alleges that when he in-trusted his stock certificates to Mr. Pingree's care March 18, 1920, he did so with the belief that Mr. Pingree was solvent and that he relied upon his promise to return the stock when re-

CAN'T DESTROY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29— Bombing experiments conducted against the old battleship Indiana. demonstrated the "improbability of a modern battleship being eith-er destroyed or completely put out of action," according to a report made public by the navy depart-ment today. The report was from Captain W. D. Leahy, director of gunners exercises.

The department has accurate information regarding the number of hits that may be expected against a vessel by aerial bombs, the report said.

In these experiments bombs of different design and weights were placed about the decks to de-termine the amount of damage to be expected from an aerial bomb, the statement said. Dummy bombs were dropped from aircraft to determine the percentage of hits.

Naval officers were much exercised over the testimony of Brig-adier General William Mitchell, director of training and operations of the army air service, before the house appropriations commit-tee that the airplane had made the navy virtually useless. Despite this promise Mr. Ellison now complains that, 'in truth of fact, the defendant Pingree was threatened then by serious financial reverses and his thancial condition and the danger of his insolvency.

The complaint sets forth that at the time of the delivery of the stock Pingree was president of the Ogden Packing & Provision company and that that company was heavily indebted and unable to meet its obligations.

STOCK TURNED OVER.

Mr. Ellison charges that at the time the stock was turned over to Pingree he was then president of the Ogden Packing & Provision company and when that company was taken over by creditors, they conspired to secure the stock from Pingree and "by threats of criminal prosecution forced Pingree to hand over the stock."

The plaintiff sets forth that the "committee of creditors" mentioned as W. H. Shearman, Eva C. Erb, W. H. Wattis, John R. Washburn, L. L. Lipman, A. G. Becker, C. H. Poppenhusen, Carey W. Rhodes, James H. Devine and the Continental and Commercial bank of Chicago are now intrusted with the affairs and management of the packing company and are all named as defendants.
